For the first time in two weeks there were no women to be seen in the court-room. Mr. Goff's "gentle June buds" were to be given a rest for to-day.

Mr. Goff called off a long list of names, most of whom were present, but there were a number of absentees. Before calling any witnesses, Mr. Nicoll asked very deliberately whether the witness Granger was still under the protection of the Committee.

"Im sorry, Mr. Nicoll, should be subjected to such temptations," was Mr. Goff's parting shot.

Rag Dealer a Witness.

Rag Desler a Witness.

The first witness called was Simon Rawitzer, a woolen rag and wool dealer, of 138 Duane street. Mr. Rowitzer was an unwilling witness and said he didn't want his name to get into the papers. He admitted that he was obliged to use the the sidewalk in front of his store in aarrying on his business, loading and unloading goods.

"Did you ever pay anything for this privilege to any one?" asked Mr. Goff.

"Yes, money was paid to a corporation officer to avoid being fined and being compelled to go to court."

Mr. Rowitzer said he never paid the money himself, but it was paid by Mr. Bermas, his financial manager.

"How much did you pay?"

"At one time $25 and the second time $50. I believe. We had to use the side-awalk, it was compulsary, and I paid this to avoid future trouble. Since I have been paying for the privilege I have never been troubled."

Mr. Rowitzer said he did not know the name of the policeman who called for the money, and he had never seen him. He only knew he was what was known as a corporation policeman.

The next witness was Montrose Bermos, Mr. Rowitzer's manager, who scorroborated his story in regard to the payments of money to policemen.

Afterwards, in conversation with a friend, I was informed that if I would send for the ward man and arrange matters I would avoid any trouble in the future.

above in the future if I would pay him $20.

I paid the money and we had no more trouble that year. I never knew the name of this man. I made another payment to him and then another man came around.

"He said he was the ward man of the new Captain, and that the time had expired for making the payment, and he would like to renew the arrangement."

"Did he ask you for any more money?"

"Yes, He said the price had been raised."

"How much did you pay?"

"The last time I paid $50."

"How did you pay it?"

Money Put in Envelopes.

"I put the money in an envelope and gave it to the officer when he came around for it."

"Did he ask you to put it in an envelope?"
"Yes, I think he did."

Beach, but to keep on in New York was out of the question.

Mr. Goff was very emphatic in his views on the subject. "It would simply be a physical impossibility for me tog owith this work much longer. We must stop at the end of next week."

At 11 o'clock, when work was resumed. Chairman Leoxw and Separtors Bradley, Cantor, Pound and O'Connor made up a quorum. Counsellor Sutherland, from Rochester, was in his customary place and shapened his pencil to take copious notes of the proceedings, and Mr. Nicoll was back again from Albany to looking out for the interests of the Police Department.

The witness chairs were filled with produce merchants, grocers and shipping men, and it was evident that Mr. Goff and his associates intended to follow up the lead which they opened yesterday, with additional evidence, and show what perquisites the police residued from business men whom they allowed to violate corporation ordinances.

The hottest June 22 of which the Forecaster has knowledge, occurred in 1888, and then the mercury indicated 31 degrees, a mark easily to be reached before to-day was over, Mr. Dunn thought.

New York at 8 o'clock was next to the hottest place in the country, Philadelphia leading the van, with her themometer recording 80 degrees. According to the official weather indications, it was from five to six points warmer here to-day than anywhere in the Middle States yesterday.

The only section of the country where storms were prevailing to-day was over the extreme northern part of the New England States. There severe electrical disturbances were reported, but they apparently have had but little effect in feducing the temperature.

The prospect for to-morrow is that it will be warmer, possibly, than the highest mark reached to-day.

The temperature at 8 o'clock in various parts of the country was as follows: Boston and Albany, 75; Chicago, St. Louis, Cincimal, Jacksonville, Cairo, Memphis, New Orleans, Montgomery, Jupiter, Key West, Wilmington, Hatteras, Baitmore, Indianapolis, all 78 degrees.

The weather is alightly cooler west of the Middle State of the Middle State.
